Be the name inside the answer.

Potatopedia is the neutral global reference on potatoes. Growers, processors, traders and researchers ask it questions and get answers grown from FAOSTAT, USDA, CIP, UN Comtrade, CPRI, Europatat and peer-reviewed research. Makers, breeders and suppliers reach them through placements that are always labelled.

Eight ways to reach the potato industry

01

Featured maker

MACHINERY MAKERS

A labelled slot at your stage of the potato chain (seed, field, harvest, storage, processing, market), first in line for that stage's quote requests.

$2,000 per year, per stage

02

Pay per qualified enquiry

MACHINERY MAKERS

"Get 3 quotes" requests matched to your machines and markets, with machine, capacity, country and timeline.

$20 per qualified enquiry

03

Breeder variety set

SEED BREEDERS AND SEED HOUSES

Your varieties' dossiers carry your labelled breeder card and a seed-request button. Facts never change.

$2,500 per year

04

Own a question

ANY POTATO COMPANY

One labelled card under the neutral, sourced answer to a question your buyers ask.

$400 per question, per year

05

Publish with us

ANY POTATO COMPANY

A partner article marked "Published with us", shared in the newsletter. Never mixed into the neutral knowledge base.

$250 per article

06

Daily presenter and newsletter

ANY POTATO COMPANY

"Presented by" on the homepage and The Potato Week for the days you choose.

$100 per day

07

AI visibility report

ANY POTATO COMPANY

How often ChatGPT, Perplexity, Gemini and Potatopedia name your brand against rivals for your buyers' questions.

08

Country market report

TRADERS, INVESTORS, MAKERS

A sourced report on one country or segment: production, trade partners, processors, storage and prices.

THE RULES WE KEEP

Trust is the product.

The neutral, sourced answer always comes first.

Every paid item is labelled Sponsored or Published with us.

Paid content never changes a fact, and sponsors never edit the neutral pages.

Sources: FAOSTAT, USDA, CIP, UN Comtrade, CPRI, Europatat and established peer-reviewed journals only.
