Be the name inside the answer.

Potatopedia is the neutral global reference on potatoes. Growers, processors, traders and researchers ask it questions and get answers grown from FAOSTAT, USDA, CIP, UN Comtrade, CPRI, Europatat and peer-reviewed research. Makers, breeders and suppliers reach them through placements that are always labelled.

Seven ways to reach the potato industry

01

Featured maker

MACHINERY MAKERS

A labelled slot at your stage of the potato chain (seed, field, harvest, storage, processing, market) on the matching market and machine pages.

$2,000 per year, per stage

02

Breeder variety set

SEED BREEDERS AND SEED HOUSES

Your varieties' pages carry your labelled breeder card and a link to your seed contacts. Facts never change.

$2,500 per year

03

Own a question

ANY POTATO COMPANY

One labelled card under the neutral, sourced answer to a question your buyers ask.

$400 per question, per year

04

Publish with us

ANY POTATO COMPANY

A partner article marked "Published with us", shared in the newsletter. Never mixed into the neutral knowledge base.

$250 per article

05

Daily presenter and newsletter

ANY POTATO COMPANY

"Presented by" on the homepage and The Potato Week for the days you choose.

$100 per day

06

AI visibility report

ANY POTATO COMPANY

How often ChatGPT, Perplexity, Gemini and Potatopedia name your brand against rivals for your buyers' questions.

$500 per report

07

Country market report

TRADERS, INVESTORS, MAKERS

A sourced report on one country or segment: production, trade partners, processors, storage and prices.

$500 per report

THE RULES WE KEEP

Trust is the product.

The neutral, sourced answer always comes first.

Every paid item is labelled Sponsored or Published with us.

Paid content never changes a fact, and sponsors never edit the neutral pages.

Sources: FAOSTAT, USDA, CIP, UN Comtrade, CPRI, Europatat and established peer-reviewed journals only.
